

THE SECOND WEEK OF GREAT PRIZE CONTEST

Lots of Room for More Candidates in the Field—Get In.

READ INSTRUCTIONS IN THIS ISSUE

Learn All About This Great Prize Contest—You'll Be Interested.

The Washington Herald's Great Prize Contest is now in its second week, and the interest in it is gradually increasing. However, there is plenty of room for other candidates in the field, and you are hereby invited to become one of them. Those who have entered seem to think that they have found an easy task of securing subscriptions to this paper. Though a comparatively few have entered, those who have are enthusiastic. They are beginning to learn how very easy it is going to be to win that house and lot, which everybody will want as soon as they have seen it.

Would like to have you see it, too. Take North Capitol street car, get off at Bryant street and walk about half a block west. You'll find the home unfinished yet, but we expect it to be completed within a week or ten days. However, you can get an excellent idea of it even now.

You'll like the location, too. You should see how that part of the city is building up. As a matter of fact, we couldn't have chosen a better location in all Washington. The street upon which the home is located is nicely paved with brick, broad, and as clean as it is possible to keep a street. There is not a house on the street less than three stories high. There are no apartment houses, flats or boarding houses in this section, and the improvements everywhere are of the finest character.

Altogether, this is the home which you have been dreaming of owning, and if you don't own it after July 3, the date upon which this contest closes, it will be your own fault.

We suppose you have been reading about this contest and that you are acquainted with the fact that there are seventy-six prizes besides this home. Any one of them is yours with very little trouble. Read the following instructions as to how to proceed in order to enter this Great Race.

How Prizes Will Be Distributed.
The territory covered by this contest is divided into eighteen districts, eleven being in the city, and seven in the adjoining country.

To the contestant securing the largest number of votes in the entire contest, regardless of district limitations, will be awarded the grand capital prize, a $5,000 house and lot in the city of Washington.

The second grand prize, a White Steamer automobile, will go to the contestant receiving the second largest number of votes in the entire contest.

An elegant Columbia victrola, electric light, and a new car will be given to the contestant receiving the third largest number of votes in the entire contest.

A $1,000 building lot will be awarded to the contestant receiving the fourth largest number of votes in the entire contest.

The contestant receiving the fifth largest number of votes in the entire contest will become acquainted with the delights of a European tour, and to make it all the more interesting, the privilege of selecting a friend is granted to the winner.

The district prizes will go to the contestants receiving the first, second, third, and fourth largest number of votes in their respective districts, each district having its own individual prizes, and no candidate living in one district may win a prize in another district. He may, however, in fact, he should, compete for one of the five grand prizes.

Remember that you are not confined to giving votes in your particular district. On the contrary, you are permitted to secure members in any part of the United States.

Way for You to Win.
If you live in one of the eighteen districts included in this contest, and if you wish to enter the contest and win one of the magnificent prizes which are to be given away absolutely free, you should see that your nomination is once sent to the Contest Manager. A nomination blank is printed in each issue of this paper, and all you have to do is to cut it out, fill it in, and send it to the Contest Manager with the Washington Herald. Then all you have to do to win is to receive the largest number of votes, according to the conditions of the contest. The conditions are also to be found in each issue.

You should apply at once to all your friends; get them interested; get them to subscribe for The Washington Herald and to give you their votes. When you send in your nomination, you will be started off with 1,000 votes.

The Special Vote Coupon.
The way to secure a Special Vote Coupon is to secure the subscriptions of your friends for from six to twenty-four months, payable in advance. It costs the subscriber not one penny extra to do this, and besides, he is saved the annoyance of weekly and monthly collections. The Special Vote Coupon schedule will be found printed elsewhere in this issue.

SCHOOL BOYS TO SHOOT.

Annual Tournament Will Be Held Here Easter Week.

The annual rifle tournament for school boys will be held in Washington in Easter week, under the auspices of the National Rifle Association.

The boys are practicing for the event in National Guard Armory every Saturday afternoon, and much interest is being shown in their preparations for the shoot.

All shots will be fired with the U. S. musket for gallery practice, .22 caliber.

A list of "Don'ts" has been issued for the guidance of the boys, among which are the following:

Don't point your gun anywhere but at the target. Don't load until you are ready to fire. Don't drop the rifle on the floor. It may bend the sights.

Don't fire until you are sure of your aim. Don't fire if you are unsteady. Take your rifle down and rest.

Don't talk on the firing line while practice is going on.

Don't fail to try to make the best score you can.

ANTHROPOLOGISTS INTERESTED

Speakers Give Interesting Talks Before Washington Society.

Many persons attended the 42d regular meeting of the Anthropological Society of Washington last night in the assembly room of the Cosmos Club. After a brief communication, in which routine affairs were disposed of, Dr. O. F. Cook was introduced and read an interesting and instructive paper on a "New chapter in the history of the coconut palm."

Arthur P. Read entertained the audience with a lecture on "Canibalism in Polynesia," in which he gave a description, based on careful study, of the revolting customs of these aborigines, who are still practically without the pale of modern civilization.

John R. Swanton, secretary of the society, produced an interesting exhibit of a collection of chert and flint artifacts, explaining their manufacture and the uses to which they are put.

LOWER COURT REVERSED.

Decision Given in Favor of the Ferguson Contracting Company.

The Court of Appeals yesterday reversed a decision in the case of the Ferguson Contracting Company vs. the Coal and Coke Railway Company, of which former Senator H. G. Davis is president, in favor of the plaintiffs. In the decision the court reversed the lower court, and remanded the case for further proceedings.

The Coal and Coke Railway Company, which was represented by J. J. Darlington, contended it was not doing business in the District of Columbia within the meaning of the statute. The Court of Appeals, however, decided in favor of the Ferguson Contracting Company, which is represented by John G. Carlisle, H. Ralph Burton, and J. S. Easby-Smith.

This company is suing the Coal and Coke Railway Company for $65,000 upon an arbitration award against the Railway Company.

The decision is an important one, as it involves a question of jurisdiction, upon which there have so far been few decisions.

WILL ARRANGE TAFT DINNER.

Board of Trade Directors Name a Special Committee.

At a special meeting of the directors of the Washington Board of Trade yesterday, steps were taken toward preliminary arrangements for the proposed dinner to be given to President Taft by the citizens of the District of Columbia.

A special committee was appointed to represent the Board of Trade and to cooperate with a similar committee that will probably be named by the Chamber of Commerce at the meeting of its directors this afternoon. The committee named yesterday contained President John Henry Small, chairman, John Jay Edson, Theodore W. Noyes, Gen. George H. Harries, and Scott C. Bone.

It is the intention of the members of the two trade bodies to make the forthcoming dinner to the President a notable event, with an effort to bring about cordial good feeling between the business men of the city and the White House.

Attorney General George W. Wickersham issued orders yesterday that all press reports from his department will be issued only from his office, and has cautioned heads of bureaus and other subdivisions in the Department of Justice not to violate the order. Reports to be given out for publication will be issued in memorandum form by his secretary.

By a decision of the District Court of Montana, the title to 112 acres of coal land in Mount Rainier National Park, worth about $300,000, reverts to the United States government. The land has been recovered from the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, Road Company, and Company, and Northwestern Improvement Company.

Mrs. James F. Mackin, rector of St. Paul's Catholic Church, officiated at funeral services for Robert Edmund O'Brien, yesterday. Representatives of Catholic and Protestant organizations, of which Mr. O'Brien had been an active worker, attended the funeral. The deceased was 42 years of age. He was the son of William A. O'Brien, Thomas Clark, M. J. Meador, Dr. C. O. O'Brien, J. P. Saffell, and R. S. Maguire. Interment was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

SUBURBANITES ASK PARK EXTENSIONS

Randle Highlands Citizens Take Firm Stand.

"Will Be One of the Great Cities of the World," Says Representative Hayes, of California, and the Conservation of the National Park Site is Advocated—Elected Secretary.

Taking a firm stand for suburban improvements and an extension of the park system of Washington, Representative E. A. Hayes, of California, addressed a meeting of the Randle Highlands and Winning City Citizens' Association in the Baptist Mission Hall in Randle Highlands last night.

His talk was received with enthusiasm, especially when he said that of all the men who are building cities in the United States to-day, those who are doing the greatest work are the men who are giving their children the open air and the freedom of the suburbs of the National Capital.

A Great Capital.
"Washington in the near future," he said, "will be not only one of the greatest cities in the United States, but one of the greatest capitals in the world. And no man is contributing more effectively to its growth than the man who is fighting for the recognition of its outlying sections."

"My vote in Congress has always been in favor of encouragement to the park system, which has already made Washington famous among the cities of the country, and if there is any way I can help to make Randle Highlands and Winning City in that respect, you can count on a vote from me."

There was some expectation that Richard Croker, who at one time "carried New York in his pocket," would be present at the meeting, but Col. Arthur A. Randle, who ushered in the gentleman from California, reported that the former leader of Tammany was unable to be present. Col. Randle repeated a remark of Mr. Croker's, however, in which he said that what Washington needed was more civic improvements to give it the place it should have as the seat of the Federal government.

Conserving Park Sites.
The question of conserving the natural park sites in the city was brought up in a resolution offered by Capt. J. Walter Mitchell, president of the association. The resolution was passed, and was as follows:

"Resolved, That the honorable Commissioners be requested to recommend to Congress the establishment of a chain of parks, natural or otherwise, about the city of Washington, and that such action be taken before all the available park sites are stripped of their natural beauty through their subdivision and the erection of buildings thereon."

On motion of Robert F. Bradbury, vice president of the association, Capt. Mitchell, Mr. Bradbury, and Dr. M. H. Darnall were appointed a committee to wait upon Capt. Oyster, president of the board of education, and upon the District Commissioners and request that a portable school house be placed in that section of the city to supply temporarily, at least, the lack of proper educational facilities.

G. H. Lousenlager was elected Secretary to fill the position formerly occupied by Rev. Elias Auger, pastor of the Baptist church, who was forced to resign by the pressure of his church duties.

REPUBLICANS WIN FIGHT IN CHICAGO.

have been victorious. The cities where the fight was made are "wet," though in many cases by only small majorities.

Appleton, a town of 20,000, is "wet" by 500 votes, and Beloit, nearly as large, only went "wet" by 200. Sparta, after two years of prohibition, returned to license by a majority of twenty-seven out of a population of 10,000.

Battle in Colorado.
Denver, Colo., April 6.—Few of the latter cities in Colorado, in which the bitterest contest every waged occurred to-day, had counter their votes at midnight. A few places report that the drys are ahead. Colorado Springs went dry by nearly 2,000 majority and elected the Republican ticket.

Temperance Law Valid.
Montgomery, Ala., April 6.—The Supreme Court has declared the State prohibition law valid. All the judges concurring in the opinion. This is the second time the court has upheld the State-wide act of the legislature. It was attacked on several constitutional grounds.

Women Vote in Milwaukee.
Milwaukee, April 6.—The election of State superintendent of schools and six school directors brought many women to the polls to-day. The wealthy club-women on one side were lined up against the wives of the Socialists in the first test by women of voting machines.

Nebraska Liquor Bill Signed.
Lincoln, Neb., April 6.—Gov. Shallenberger to-day signed the daylight saloon bill. The measure forbids the sale of liquor except between 7 a. m. and 8 p. m. The bill goes into effect July 1.

The hours will be from 9 to 5 o'clock. Graduates from the three years' course will be given diplomas. Mrs. Mark Hanna, Mrs. John R. McLean, Miss Freeman, and Rev. Ronald Cotton Smith are interested in the enterprise.

Tennis Court Will Remain.

Departure of Winter Assured by Millinery Display.
According to the latest indications in F street, spring is on its way.

Yesterday afternoon's melting sun brought out all the Violets and Pansies that had the open-work tops to put on, and Washington's display street of the latest and greatest in laces and graces was a scene of the gods and a balm for the spring fever.

The Weather Bureau may rave and roar, or suggest and intimate the kicking of winter out the back door. But it will not soon be forgotten that the government forecasters said inauguration day was going to be the best ever.

The birds in F street—and there are birds in F street—commence to twitter and glitter up and down the sidewalk. They did it yesterday, and the answer is: Get a straw hat.

CONVENTION FOR WASHINGTON.
International Congress of Hygiene and Demography to Meet Here.

At a meeting of the organization committee of the American branch of the International Congress of Hygiene and Demography, at the State Department yesterday, it was tentatively decided that the meeting of the congress should be in Washington in September of next year.

The last congress was in Berlin in 1907. At that time the American delegation invited the Congress to meet in the United States, and this was accepted. The State Department is indirectly in charge of arrangements.

An executive committee was selected yesterday consisting of Dr. S. N. D. North, Director of the Census; Maj. John S. Billings, U. S. A., retired; Medical Inspector Beyer, U. S. N.; Maj. Walter D. McCall, U. S. A.; Dr. William H. Welch, Johns Hopkins University; Surgeon General Wyman, U. S. Marine Hospital Service; Surgeon General Sternberg, U. S. A., retired, and Dr. Herman Biggs, of the New York City Health Department.

MOVEMENT TO CHECK CASTRO.
Former Venezuelan President Cannot Land at Trinidad.

Nations Will Join to Prevent Him Getting Foothold to Start Revolution.

The government of the United States has taken steps to make certain that Venezuela will not be molested by belligerent activities on the part of Cipriano Castro, formerly President of the republic, and now about to reach Trinidad after a few months' banishment.

Views concerning the menace of Castro to the new regime in Venezuela, which at present seems to be getting along in good shape, have been exchanged between the United States and Great Britain, France, Holland, Colombia, and Panama.

Castro will not be permitted to land in Trinidad. The State Department has received information to this effect, both from the Port of Spain and from London. The governor of Trinidad has been instructed by the foreign office in London not to permit the former Venezuelan executive to depart from the French ship which will arrive in the capital of Trinidad soon.

It is the object of the government here to make it impossible for Castro to secure a base of operations in the event he wishes to make an effort to regain control of Venezuela, and to prevent a revolutionary movement. This policy was decided upon some days ago.

The department believes that Venezuela has been the victim of Castro. Accordingly, this government voiced its sentiments to England, Holland, Colombia, France, and Panama. Officials of the State Department believe that the other nations will, in time, come to make it impossible for Castro to engage in pernicious activities.

The former ruler of Venezuela seems to be in a fine predicament. He is still a citizen of Venezuela, but would he return to that country he would probably be jailed on indictments already made against him.

Gen. Castro may be forced to fall back upon his rights as a citizen of Venezuela and demand permission to land somewhere. Every country is now on friendly relations with Venezuela, and a claim on the part of Castro that he should be permitted to land because he is a citizen of a friendly nation would bring about an interesting problem.

Fort de France His Port.
Paris, April 6.—A journal prints a dispatch from Fort de France, Martinique, stating that owing to Great Britain's decision not to allow ex-President Castro, of Venezuela, to land on British territory on his return from Europe, he will disembark at Fort de France.

DR. SALE APPOINTED.
Georgian Named as Member of the Liberian Commission.

Dr. George Sale, of Georgia, has been appointed a member of the commission which is shortly to go to Liberia to make an investigation of conditions.

Dr. Sale makes the place made vacant by Dr. O'Brien of New York, although he does not succeed Mr. O'Brien as chairman, that position going to W. Morgan Shuster, of the District of Columbia.

The third member of the commission is Emmett J. Scott, of Alabama. The selection of Dr. Sale was announced yesterday. He is superintendent of education of the Baptist Home Mission of Negro Schools.

George A. Finch, of the Department of State, and a member of the bar of the District of Columbia, will accompany the commission secretary, Capt. Sydney A. Cloman, Twenty-third Infantry, military attaché at London, has been designated as military attaché, and Maj. Percy M. Ashburn, the medical corps of the army, is also attached to the commission. Frank Abial Flower has been appointed attaché.

Between April 15 and 20 the commission will sail from Hampton Roads on the U. S. mail, the cruiser Chester, and Salem. The route will be to Cape Verde Islands, a matter of some seven days, where a stop will be made for coal, and from there to Monrovia, two days steaming. The commission will arrive at Monrovia about the end of April. After a sojourn of one month, they will return by the same route.

"Homes of a Hundred Ideas."
THE MEANING OF AN IDEAL HOME.
Our homes are so planned and adjusted as to meet a woman's ideals of a perfect dwelling, in order that she may undertake her responsibilities well equipped for the establishment of a home which will be a credit to her intelligence and of value to the community.

An ideal home means much more than convenience and comfort. It means the family's establishment in a community. It is substantial evidence of the family's position. The man who realizes the difference between houses and "homes" must now understand that ownership is the basis on which the ideal home is founded. The family's position and prestige depending upon home ownership, the ideal home becomes an impossibility unless the man who would rent can find terms upon which he can purchase it. Our purchase plan makes the salaried man a land proprietor, the owner of his home.

How do we propose to do it? Is it not worth asking about? We know it is.

Watching for a home to be completed is like watching a flower unfold. Each process must be perfect. Neither can be hurried. The location of the homes will be announced at the earliest possible moment through Shannon & Luchs (Selling Agents), 713 Fourteenth street.

Middaugh and Shannon, Inc.,
COLORADO BUILDING.
"No place like home; no homes like ours."

The Washington Herald has selected for their contest one of "Homes of a Hundred Ideas."

They state that the reason this selection was made was "because of location and of Middaugh & Shannon's (Inc.) known reputation for good architecture, construction, and value, and because they are incorporating in their homes the ideas of the women of Washington."

WILL CLEAN UP THE CITY.
Women's Crusade on Thursday Not to Be Spectacular.

Instead of a spectacular exhibition when "housecleaning" day arrives next Thursday, the women who have aligned themselves with the Twentieth Century Club will see that their lawns, pavements, and yards are cleared of all trash in a quiet, effective way.

Several prominent citizens have arranged to join the women in their crusade. They will formulate resolutions urging the Commissioners to make a ruling that uncovered barrels or boxes of trash are not to be allowed to stand in yards or alleyways. They will also request that the city be kept clean.

The cleaning-up process will not begin at any specified hour, but residents are urged to co-operate with the club in cleaning up their premises at any time during the day.

When you have lost or found anything, telephone an advertisement to The Washington Herald, and bill will be sent you at 1 cent a word.
